

3 Decades of Einstürzende Neubauten

2 Nights of Celebration

The Berlin band has been an integral part of the international music scene for 30 years.

In 2010 their stage anniversary will be celebrated with a tour through Europe and the United States.

Concerts will be held in selected cities, but also at locations that are significant to the band.

And it'll be more than just a single concert event during the anniversary tour. The band is planning to make a guest performance on an additional day, presenting the audience with a mixed program of the Einstürzende Neubauten, films, solo shows, guests and friends.

More specifically, the band will play a great concert on the first night, while the second night will be divided into 3-part program.

It'll begin with films and installations. Afterwards the band will play a further, but much shorter concert in which the Neubauten will present material that has never been played live, hasn't been played live for a long time, or never in this form.

The evening will be rounded off with shows and performances by the individual Einstürzende Neubauten members, recomposed from city to city:

Blixa Bargeld's VOCAL ACROBATICS

Alexander Hacke's HITMAN'S HEEL with Danielle de Picciotto and Chris Hughes (Fatal Shore)

Andrew Unruh's BEATING THE DRUM

Jochen Arbeit's SOLO ACTIVITIES with local greats

Rudolf Moser's MOSERMEYER
